

First contact for IT

Looking for something better?

Whether you are looking to fill a full-time position or to engage a contractor to fill a short-term need, you want an IT recruitment partner that makes it easier to find, review and hire qualified IT professionals—that's why Planet4IT should be your first contact for IT.

A better way to attract and assess IT talent

At Planet4IT we don't just troll the Web for resumes and we don't try to substitute technology for judgment. Instead, Planet4IT combines proprietary search technology and an extensive network of IT sector contacts to quickly find candidates who meet our client's needs.

We evaluate people the old fashioned way – we talk to them.

Even in the age of online communications, a direct interview is still the best way to assess an individual's core strengths and long-term potential. So, after we identify prospective candidates, we to meet with them face-to-face.

Our recruiters receive intensive training in how to identify –and interview for – specific competencies and behaviours that are proven indicators of how a candidate will perform on the job.

Extra effort that pays off

Planet4IT's extra effort during the initial stages of recruiting makes the process more efficient and more productive for both clients and candidates. After we provide a client with a selection of qualified candidates, we facilitate the initial interview process, and then help coordinate the job offer and acceptance process. Later, we follow up with both clients and candidates to see how things are going, and to ensure that everyone's expectations have been met.

The results are worth it

Our experience, and that of our clients, has shown that finding a candidate to fill a position is just part of the story. A truly successful outcome really becomes clear over time, as a candidate becomes a valued employee who continues to make a positive contribution long after the recruiting process is over. Our entire approach to recruiting and placement is directed towards finding talented IT professionals who will make that kind of contribution.

That's the Planet4IT difference.

YOUR FIRST CONTACT FOR CONTRACTORS

Planet4IT has built a network of experienced contractors with a wide range of IT skills. We recruit contractors with the same care and the same focus on skills and fit that we apply to filling full-time positions. And we keep in touch with contractors, even when they are not on assignment. This enables us to fill positions quickly with contractors who can “hit the ground running,” and work seamlessly with a client's organization. We also provide a range of support services, including time and payroll management that make things easier for both contractors and employers.
